

Dear Robb Elementary and the Uvalde Community,

We are heartbroken to hear about your horrific loss. We, as a community don't want to stand on the sideline to any more atrocities and acts of gun violence here, near, nor afar. Our children youth and families have created 39 coloring sheets and 18 cards as a simple gesture, extending love and support. We do not expect a response or anything in return. It was literally, the least we could do.

From our perspective, it was meaningful to the Nativity Community all the way up in Minneapolis to be able to share love with your community through a simple act of card making. It gave us hope to know that we can walk with you in your grief over 1,200 miles away. And it gives us promise to know that we can work together, across the country to address gun violence through other meaningful actions like writing our legislature, urging for gun reform.

We know this may offer little to no solace for your grieving community. But you have our heartfelt condolences and love. We hope you have and will continue to receive all the support you could possibly need locally and from across the country. We will continue to mourn with you and strive to take action for meaningful change and reform, one day at a time.

Please take care!
